

Creating a Campus-Wide Sexual Violence Education Action Plan All-Star Summer School

.....
a FREE online 4-week course

Education is key to addressing and preventing gender-based violence in post-secondary education. As a professional working in this area, you must be able to anticipate, create and adapt educational programming to respond to the complexities of campus sexual violence. This widespread problem needs a comprehensive intersectional approach. Does your campus have a robust plan to address the diverse needs of your community? Do you have a wide array of strategies and tools to build education programming to cultivate consent?

Join education subject matter experts Jennifer Flood and Farrah Khan in this interactive, FREE online course to build your own campus sexual violence education plan. Over four sessions, you will learn best practices, tools, and practical strategies. You will leave this course with an action plan customized to meet the unique needs of your campus.

Dates

- Tuesday, June 7th, 2022, 12:30 PM-3:30 PM (EST)
 - Tuesday, June 14th, 2022, 12:30 PM-3:30 PM (EST)
 - Thursday, June 23rd, 2022, 12:30 PM-3:30 PM (EST)
 - Thursday, July 7th, 2022, 12:30 PM-2:30 PM (EST)
-

Our experts will guide you through

- Understanding theoretical approaches and their application
- Promising practices in the field of sexual violence prevention education
- Consulting and collaborating with campus stakeholders
- Implementing your action plan
- Putting together an education advisory
- Creating guiding principles
- Conducting a needs assessment
- Setting goals and evaluating your action plan

This course will draw on in-depth case studies, Courage to Act's Education and Training toolkit, and guest speakers. The interactive learning format will allow you to practice learned concepts with expert feedback. Working in small groups, you will have the opportunity to apply your knowledge in a supportive environment, sharing your experience with and learning from peers from across the country.

Learning Outcomes

- Identify and apply key concepts, tools and theoretical frameworks from the Education and Training Toolkit to institutional action planning.
- Demonstrate how to meaningfully consult and engage with campus stakeholders when building institutional action plans.
- Develop an action plan framework that responds to the unique needs of your campus community.

Who should attend?

- Sexual Violence Response Staff
- Sexual Violence Education Staff
- Human Rights Offices and Services
- Student Affairs Professionals
- People leading conversations and work around campus gender-based violence
- Student Unions
- Conduct Offices
- School Administrators

Registration Information

- Registration form
- Registration open date: April 29th, 2022
- Registration close date: May 20th, 2022
- Should you have any questions, please contact Jennifer Flood at education@possibilityseeds.ca

Certificate

- The All-Star Summer School is a recognized learning opportunity. Attendance will count toward the Courage to Act: Addressing and Preventing Gender-Based Violence at Post-Secondary Institutions certificate.

About Us

Possibility Seeds is a Canadian social change consultancy dedicated to gender justice and equity. We lead Courage to Act, a multi-year initiative to address and prevent gender-based violence at post-secondary institutions in Canada, funded by the Department of Women and Gender Equality (WAGE). The first national collaborative of its kind, Courage to Act has brought together over 170 GBV experts and advocates across the country to create almost 45 innovative tools and toolkits thus far.

Farrah Khan (Executive Director, Possibility Seeds) has worked for over two decades to raise awareness about equity and gender-based violence through education, policy, advocacy and art. She is the manager of Consent Comes First, Toronto Metropolitan University's sexual violence and support office, and a member of the Government of Canada's Federal Strategy Against Gender-based Violence Advisory Council. Farrah is the recipient of numerous awards including the Toronto Community Foundation's Vital People Award. With Possibility Seeds, Farrah works to nourish gender justice, equity, and inclusion for communities and institutions.

Jennifer Flood (Education Lead, Possibility Seeds) is a queer mixed Métis Indigenous woman with English and Irish settler ancestry, residing in Tkaranto. For nearly a decade, she has led gender-based violence/sexual violence prevention education initiatives at post-secondary institutions including Humber College and the University of Toronto. She makes space for those living at the intersections of 2SQTBIPOC identities, and centres trauma-informed and culturally-grounded practices.